

Lessons Learned – FAIR

Sampling for Geochemical parameters:

- An attempt at testing geochemical parameters in the FAIR area was attempted in the Fall of 2003 by GeoEngineers. Due to high turbidity, the samples were unusable for geochemical testing, as it impacts the iron concentration results. To properly test geochemistry, it is suggested that solids are removed using a staged filtering process.